

"I still can't believe they made a movie about me.

I'm just an average person.

Hopefully people will see that even an average person can make a difference in someone else's life just by opening your eyes and your heart."

Amnesty International applauds everyone involved with Hotel Rwanda for creating such a powerful film that reminds us all of the need to remain vigilant and defend human rights. Every day, Amnesty presses governments to uphold human rights, seeks freedom for prisoners of conscience, prevents torture and saves lives. We work to promote human rights and security in places like Darfur, Sudan, where the violent conflict has forced over 2 million people from their homes and claimed more than 180,000 lives.

Yes, I would like to help Amnesty International defend human rights to create a safer and more peaceful world. Enclosed please find my gift of:
