

Quotes on Guantánamo and Torture

"I'd like to see it shut down...I believe that from the standpoint of how it reflects on us that it's been pretty damaging."

-Admiral Michael Mullen, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

"It gives us a very, very bad name, not just internationally. I have a great deal of difficulty understanding how we can hold someone, pick someone up, particularly someone who might be an American citizen—even if they were caught somewhere abroad, acting against American interests—and hold them without ever giving them an opportunity to appear before a magistrate."

-James A. Baker III, former U.S. Secretary of State

“My approach was what we call a relationship-based approach—far more than just rapport-building. I’ve never felt any necessity or operational requirement to bring physical, psychological or emotional pressure on a source to win their cooperation. So, following the guidance in the [Army] field manual, I feel unconstrained in my ability to work in the paradigm that I’ve taught for so many years.”

-Colonel Steven Kleinman, U.S. Air Force Reserve, former military interrogator
