Salutation: Dear Ambassador

Dear Mr. Hernán Álvarez Uribe,

I am writing to you to express my deep concern regarding the announced eviction of 18 people currently residing in the Jaidukama municipal coliseum. They, who lost their homes in a flooding caused by the Hidroitango hydroelectric project in April 2018, do not have access to alternative shelter and if evicted would be unable to meet their basic needs.

I call upon you to fulfill your human rights obligations and stop this eviction until you fulfill certain conditions. These include exploring alternative options to eviction in genuine consultation with the affected community, since evictions must be carried out only as a last resort. Your government also needs to provide adequate alternative housing to the people affected, before evicting them, since they are not able to provide for themselves. Due process requirements also need to be followed, including the provision of legal remedies, and access to legal aid where necessary. If all the above is not followed, this will be considered a forced eviction, which is a violation of human rights.

Yours sincerely,

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

In April 2018 in Playas Guayacan, Sandinas and Mote (municipality of Ituango), there were two floods of the Cauca River, ravaging the homes of 23 families. Five days after the tragedy, 36 people were rescued and were received by the mayor of Ituango, who placed them in the coliseum of the town. One year later they have not received any type of reparation and access to psychosocial and educational care has also been denied.

On 27 April 2019, those remaining at the Coliseum were issued an eviction notice by Ituango's Municipal Police. The notice requires the community to leave by Monday, 6 May 2019. In 2018 Amnesty International stated that the Colombian state must provide assistance to people affected by the Hidroitango project and that the authorities must ensure that the killings of the brave human rights defenders who denounced the environmental damages related to this project do not go unpunished.
