Salutation: Your Royal Highness

Your Majesty King Salman,

On 15 August 2019, two Qatari men, Ali Nasser Ali Jarallah (70) and his son Abdulhadi Ali Nasser Ali Jarallah (17), entered Saudi Arabia on valid family visas on their way to visit Ali Jarallah's brother in Dammam, in the Eastern Province. The two men were in contact with their family in Qatar until 18 August, when they were nearing the city of al-Hofuf in the Eastern Province. Since then all communication was lost and they disappeared.

Ali Jarallah is diabetic and suffers from heart and kidney problems as well as high blood pressure. He is on regular medication and must attend his regular doctor's appointments in Doha.

According to a trusted source, there are good reasons to believe that the father and son may have been arbitrarily detained by the Presidency of State Security.

I call on your Majesty to immediately reveal the whereabouts of Ali Jarallah and his son Abdulhadi Jarallah; and if detained, to disclose the reason for their detention, and release them unless they are promptly charged with a recognizable criminal offense in accordance with the principles of due process recognized by international law. In the meantime, Ali Nasser Ali Jarallah must be immediately granted all medical access his situation requires.

Yours sincerely,

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Ali Nasser Ali Jarallah (aged 70), and his son Abdulhadi (aged 17) are Qatari nationals who entered Saudi Arabia on a family visa on 15 August 2019. They were on their way to visit Ali Jarallah's brother in Dammam. On 18 August, the two contacted their family in Qatar to inform them that they were nearing al-Hofuf city. Following this last contact, their phone remained connected a further three days, but they did not reply to calls and messages. Their phones were disconnected afterwards.

The father, uncle and son have no history of problematic issues with the Saudi authorities. Ali Nasser Ali Jarallah's brother also holds the Saudi nationality.

On 26 August, a tweet carrying a recent video of Ali Jarallah and his son Abdulhadi along with a number of unidentified men was circulated. The tweet was subsequently deleted. The video is filmed in a white room that contains a hospital bed, with high small windows, and is fitted with a surveillance camera. In the video, Ali Jarallah says: "Had they detained me for a reason, there wouldn't be a problem." The other men in the room are heard asking him whether he is doing well. It is unknown who, when and where the video was taken.

The diplomatic crisis between Qatar and its Gulf neighbours of Saudi Arabia, Bahrain and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) that began in June 2017 persists. Sanctions imposed by these states against Qatar separated multinational families, cut short international students' education, eliminated cross-border jobs, and caused a rise in food prices in Qatar that was detrimental for low income classes, especially migrant workers.
